

AsiaHub Summit USA

Event introduction

The AsiaHub Summit is a unique event offering up-to-the-minute information on chemicals regulations throughout Asia.

Day one of the Summit focuses on developments in China. This includes five speakers from the Chinese Government who will be available for questions throughout the day. These speakers represent the departments of Chinese Solid Waste and Chemical Management Center; the State Administration of Work Safety; and the National Health and Family Planning Commission.

Day two focuses on latest developments in the rest of Asia. This includes Taiwan, where there are currently major changes to TSCSA; South Korea, where there are both recent proposed amendments to K-REACH together with draft new regulation for Biocidal products, K-BPR; Thailand, where the registration process has recently been updated; and Vietnam, where there have been recent updates on the status of the Vietnamese chemical inventory. In addition, there will be timely updates from Japan, India and Australia.
